

Centennial Kick-Off Celebration

*America's National Wildlife Refuge System will be 100 years old on March 14th, 2003.
On February 9, come to Nisqually National Wildlife Refuge to join in the first of a series of events commemorating this remarkable century of conservation.*

Experience the many diverse and wild aspects of America's National Wildlife Refuges in this spectacular visual odyssey set to music

"Let's Go Wild"

presented by wildlife photographer
Karen Hollingsworth

Karen Hollingsworth can most often be found behind a camera on a national wildlife refuge or giving presentations nationwide on her stunning visual journeys through the National Wildlife Refuge System. For sixteen years, Karen has explored the beauty and diversity of habitats and species at refuges throughout the country and has been to more than 400 national wildlife refuges.

February 9, 2003

2:00 p.m. with reception following
Nisqually National Wildlife Refuge

Visitor Center
Exit 114 off I-5
(360) 753-9467

